

International Gynaecologic Cancer Society (IGCS)

IGCS is a non-governmental organisation whose mission is to enhance the care of those with gynaecologic cancers worldwide through education, training, public awareness, and advocacy so that every individual under every circumstance receives the best possible quality of care and quality of life, resulting in the best outcomes. IGCS has assembled an Advocacy Committee to oversee the International Gynaecologic Cancer Advocacy Network (IGCAN), which covers three areas:

- Patient Education and Awareness
- Advocacy Research and Science
- Collaboration and Network Building

We have supported this group since 2020.
