Policy on Equal and Inclusive Treatment of Employees

GSK Corporate
POL_87145 (4.0)

Why do we have this Policy?

In accordance with our core value of respect for people, we are committed to dealing with every person in an equal and inclusive way. Our goal is to attract, develop and retain the best employees by treating everyone on an equal and inclusive basis. We have signed up to the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. We strive to create a working environment that reflects the diversity and characteristics of the communities in which we operate and the customers we serve and which is free of harassment, discrimination and bullying.

What does this policy cover?

All employees at GSK must ensure an equitable and inclusive culture free of discrimination and encourage respectful and inclusive behaviour. We must not discriminate over any aspect of someone’s employment on the basis of characteristics as described in this policy. We must also provide reasonable support and adjustments for employees with disabilities or chronic health conditions to carry out their job. As a company we will take prompt action to deal with any inappropriate conduct. It is our intention to use suppliers, contractors and third parties who demonstrate the spirit of this policy.

What do you need to know?

In addition, managers and anyone with managerial responsibilities must:

- Demonstrate equal and inclusive treatment of employees and ensure they show the values and behaviours that create an environment in which others feel respected and included.
- Create an environment where employees are engaged in challenging work that matches their talents and increases their skills and where they are recognised for their contributions and achievements.
- Give employees regular, honest and open feedback on performance, with assistance to develop and improve.

Equality means affording all employees equal treatment regardless of actual or perceived race; colour; ethnic or national origin; age; gender; sexual orientation; marriage and civil partnership; gender identity and/or expression; religion or belief; physical ability/ disability and/or chronic health conditions (such as HIV/AIDS status); genetic make-up; or other protected characteristics as relevant in a country.

Being inclusive means valuing everyone for the unique knowledge, perspectives, experiences and style that they bring to the workplace.

We do not tolerate any behaviour that constitutes discrimination or harassment or which demeans fellow workers. This includes but is not limited to: exclusion; intimidation; use of offensive words or actions; inappropriate or unwanted physical contact; inappropriate gossip, jokes or banter whether written or spoken; bullying; and sexual harassment. Any behaviour that is unwelcome, unreasonable or offensive or which negatively affects an individual’s dignity at work is not acceptable and will not be tolerated.

Why should you read this?

This policy applies to all employees and complementary workers worldwide. It is therefore important you understand your role in ensuring GSK is a company where all employees are treated equally. Harassment and discrimination will not be permitted and any issues raised will be resolved without fear of reprisal.

Changes since last revision
The main changes are:
- The wording “protected by local law” has been replaced with “as described in this policy”.
- This is to remove any ambiguity about the applicability of the policy in jurisdictions when GSK’s position goes further than local law.
